

Generations of Memories: A Family's Deep Roots in Morristown and Holiday Traditions at the Green

Here's a photo of my father with my two eldest brothers, Tim & Chris, in the early 1960's, at the Green in Morristown. My father was born in and grew up in Morristown before leaving to fight in the Pacific in WWI and Korea. He later got married and he and my mother initially lived in Morristown in an apartment house that is still owned to this day by the family of one of his brothers. My four siblings and I were all born at Morristown Memorial Hospital, and one of my children was born there. We visit the Green each Christmas with my kids.

Dan Keefe

